Introduction

NHS Kernow Clinical Commissioning Group (NHS Kernow) recognises it has responsibility to ensure that all colleagues are adequately and trained and able to do their jobs well and to the required standard.

This policy outlines the key points on statutory and mandatory training and sets out the responsibilities of all parties. It provides clear guidance and advice to colleagues and line managers to ensure that everyone is supported in their learning and development to achieve their personal objectives and those of the organisation.

Purpose

To provide NHS Kernow staff with guidance on the subject of statutory and mandatory training and to ensure everyone understands their own responsibility for undertaking and remaining up to date with their required training.

Adherence to this policy will ensure that the organisation can demonstrate to the governing body that all colleagues are compliant with statutory and mandatory training requirements.

Definitions

People and organisational governance committee

This committee oversees many of the non-clinical and non-financial statutory duties such as:

- patient and public engagement
- health and safety
- business continuity
- emergency planning resilience
- workforce equality and diversity
- information governance

It also has oversight of people and organisational development (POD) activities.

UK Core Skills Training Framework

The UK Core Skills Training Framework (CSTF) allows employers to recognise statutory and mandatory training to a standard, trust that information and reduce duplication of training. Launched in 2013, the UK CSTF is maintained and updated by Skills for Health and includes nationally agreed learning outcomes and training delivery standards.

Responsibilities

Colleagues

- Follow the guidance contained within this policy.
- Monitor own compliance with required mandatory and statutory training.
- Prioritise completion of training to ensure it does not become overdue.
- Liaise with line manager to agree time to complete training if required.
- Raise any questions with line manager when unsure.
- Advise manager if unable to attend a pre-booked training event.
- Apply what has been learnt correctly in job role.

Line managers

- Identify any specific mandatory training requirements for colleagues.
- Ensure all colleagues are aware of the mandatory training requirements.
- Make sure colleagues complete their training within required timescales.
- Support colleague to complete their training on time and within working hours.
- Ensure colleagues attend required mandatory and statutory training events.
- Act, where needed, to ensure colleagues reach the required compliance level.
- Review compliance levels on at least a monthly basis.
- Authorise any expenses for travel outside of usual home to work mileage.

Before considering any periods of study leave or external development for colleagues, other than statutory training, line managers should make sure that colleagues have completed all their statutory and mandatory training. Appraisals or one to one meetings are a good time to discuss with colleagues and document any essential training requirements.

People and organisational development

- Support the delivery and compliance of statutory and mandatory training.
- Manage the provision and coordination of workshop sessions.
- Liaise with subject matter experts regarding appropriate content in ESR.
- Arrange classroom training sessions where appropriate.
- Update statutory and mandatory ESR records.
- Produce reports for line managers, people and organisational governance committee and statutory bodies.

Procedure

The UK CSTF sets out 10 statutory and mandatory training topics for all staff working in health and social care settings.

- 1. Equality, diversity and human rights.
- 2. Health, safety and welfare.
- 3. NHS conflict resolution.
- 4. Fire safety.
- 5. Infection prevention and control.
- 6. Moving and handling.
- 7. Safeguarding adults and children
- 8. Preventing radicalisation.
- 9. Resuscitation.
- 10. Information governance and data security.

Mandatory training is therefore a requirement that all colleagues within NHS Kernow must complete. The training ensures that colleagues can undertake their duties safely and efficiently. It minimises risk and ensures that external standards are met.

Mandatory training requirements are not the same for each colleague. They may relate to a specific team or professional group and will be proportionate to roles and responsibilities.

Mandatory training is assigned to individual ESR profiles to ensure colleague complete the modules that are appropriate for them.

It is very important that all colleagues are adequately trained so that NHS Kernow can fulfil its statutory obligations to provide the best service possible to all stakeholders and make sure that the wellbeing of colleagues is protected.

In cases where there is continued evidence of non-compliance to statutory and mandatory training, the organisation may choose to manage the issue as a disciplinary matter.

Process

New colleagues

When colleagues are inducted at NHS Kernow, they are required to complete their statutory and mandatory training using ESR, within one month of commencing in role.

Colleagues in new role

The requirement to complete the appropriate statutory and mandatory training also applies if colleagues move into a different role for whatever reason.

Colleagues joining from other parts of the NHS

Colleagues can evidence previous completion of statutory and mandatory training, by providing a copy of their ESR record or an email from their previous POD department. A record will be made to update their new learning record and there will be no requirement to complete it again unless any of their competencies are out of date.

Statutory and mandatory training requirements must be met before any decisions relating to funding for any other development opportunities, including but not limited to externally verified courses or qualifications, are considered.

Accessing training

All colleagues can access mandatory and statutory training via their ESR account. Mandatory training guidance is available with instructions on how to complete training in ESR. Please see appendix 1 for an up-to-date list of the statutory and mandatory training requirements that apply to all colleagues.

There may be some selected face to face workshops where attendance is mandatory, but to reduce cost and increase compliance, all colleagues are expected to complete their statutory and mandatory training on ESR as a preference to attending a workshop. Workshops will be phased out where there is a solution available on ESR.

Implementation plans and monitoring effectiveness

POD monitor compliance and effectiveness of this policy through submission of regular reports to the people and organisational governance committee. POD ensure any subsequent recommendations are undertaken and incorporated into this policy if appropriate.

Update and review

This policy will be formally reviewed 3 years after it is approved.

Managers should be mindful that not all people may be willing to discuss their domestic situations and therefore be able to provide the opportunity to undertake mandatory training in an office environment and be flexible when agreeing timescales for completion.
